Origami Interactive Series No 07 Interpretation of the 34th issue of the wolf, teach you to dance with the wolf

Origami students Takayama CP origami opening number2018-05-14

According to the plan this time, I will play with everyone to play wolf origami.
Only one of my friends commented on this picture before. Fortunately, I have been traveling a lot recently, and I ca n't do anything about it. The only one is relatively simple and easy to operate, so take this issue ahead of time!
First of all, let's look at the drawings!

In this issue of knowledge, the application of the 22.5-degree line in quintile origami.

That's right, it's another quintile. I said an animal before, do you still have an impression? Remember how to judge a quintile drawing? Let's do it again.

Find a line that runs through the entire square, and use 45 degrees to find the exact square.
OK, we have used this method many times, I believe everyone has an impression, so I will not remind you in the future!

Next, let's hit the grid with me, hit the line and go!

In the three pictures above, we can see how the corners are stacked from several angles. Of course, some small corners have to be dealt with at the time of shaping.
Let 's start, let 's fold our legs together

At this point, the polymerization is all completed. Of course, the head needs to be pulled upwards, and then the ears are exposed. The hind legs must also be adjusted to allow the wolf to stand.

The last one, I wish everyone a happy origami!
