According to the book, the creation of my cake (1 1/2 2 months) is 45 degrees. Anyone else thinking of this in the comments as some sewing exercise?

The prompt sheets in the post we are dealing with, and the picture below is an example of the finished product. Each sheet is about 10 inches square. Each sheet is printed on a single piece of paper and is about 8 inches square. Each sheet is then cut into 8 pieces and assembled.
